AUTHOR BIOS

Don Campbell

is a leading lecturer and consultant to healthcare organizations as well as corporations and parenting groups. He works with audiences of symphony orchestras on how music can affect learning, health, and other aspects of our lives. He is Acoustic and Musical Director of Aesthetic Audio Systems, an innovative company that provides quality music to healthcare facilities and has served for the past ten years on the Board of the American Music Research Center at the University of Colorado. In 2006, he was honored as "Signature Sinfonian" with the Award for Outstanding Service to Music and Education from Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia is founder and CEO of Advanced Brain Technologies (Ogden, Utah), an innovative company started in 1998 with a vision to transform the life of every person by making sound brain fitness universally attainable. He is author of Healing at the Speed of Sound® (2011).

Alex Doman

His professional interests began in childhood as a third generation member of a family internationally recognized for their pioneering role in the field of human development. An entrepreneur, Alex started his career in sales and management, and then served for five years as a board member and vice president of the National Fraternity. He has also been awarded "Director Emeritus" of the Boulder Philharmonic Orchestra and now provides the pre-concert lecture series and directs the SuperListening™ Club.

Author of 23 books including Music: Physician for Times to Come, The Harmony of Health, and the 1997 best-seller, The Mozart Effect®, Mr. Campbell has lectured in over 25 countries. He has also produced 16 albums, including the accompanying music for the Mozart Effect series for adults and children, which dominated the classical Billboard charts in 1998 and 1999.

In Campbell's unique view, music is not only a rich and rewarding aesthetic experience, but also an easily accessible bridge to a more creative, intelligent, healthy, and joy-filled life. His singular mission is to help return music to its central place in the modern world, as a resource for growth, development, health, and celebration.

Association for Child Development.

Alex has focused his contributions on sound, music, and technology and their capacity to improve brain function. Credits include co-producer of Music for Healing at the Speed of Sound™, Music for Babies™, executive producer, creator, or collaborator on more than 50 other music albums and products including Sound Health®, Music for the Mind™, BrainBuilder®, and The Listening Program®.

He has trained thousands of licensed therapists, health, education, and music professionals to provide sound brain fitness tools in home, school, clinic, hospital, corporate, and military settings. Alex has lectured extensively throughout the United States, Europe, United Kingdom, Latin America, Australia, and Middle East. In addition he is president of the ABT Foundation, a public charity, and serves as an advisor to various companies and nonprofit organizations.
